

Painted Lettering

Being able to paint letters with a pointed brush enables you to apply lettering to a variety of surfaces, not just the traditional calligraphic surfaces of paper and vellum. This series of lessons will give good preparation for being able to design and paint your chosen letterforms and detailed technical advice for painting letters onto cloth, wood, and other prepared surfaces as well as paper and vellum. Digital and/or physical documents will be provide at reference material and the number of lessons will be negotiated depending on the needs and skills of the students. These can be one-to-one sessions or small groups.
